Shared Value – Working Together

Why we work together

“How will researchers in 50 or 100 years understand us and our culture and times without having access to the Web of today.”

Facts

- Started in 2003 with 10 national libraries and the Internet Archive – 2013 our 10th anniversary
- Now 44 member institutions – National Libraries & Archives, Universities, Non-Profits, Service Providers
- Main event is annual General Assembly

What's new?

May 5, 2004 / Press release
In acknowledgement of the importance of international collaboration for preserving internet content for future generations, the International Internet Preservation Consortium was formed in 2003. (more...)

About the consortium:

The national libraries of Australia, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Iceland, Italy, Norway, Sweden, The British Library (UK), The Library of Congress (USA) and the Internet Archive (USA) acknowledged the importance of international collaboration for preserving Internet content for future generations and therefore decided to form a consortium called the International Internet Preservation Consortium.

The goals of the consortium are:

- To enable the collection of a rich body of Internet content from around the world to be preserved in a way that it can be archived, secured and accessed over time.
- To foster the development and use of common tools, techniques and standards that enable the creation of international archives.
- To encourage and support national libraries everywhere to address Internet archiving and preservation.

What is it about?

On the anniversary of the death of Václav Havel, we will roll up in a noticeable manner, our trouser legs. We want to honour his memory this way and remember his legacy in this noticeable manner.

When?

On 18.12.2012 and every following year on the anniversary of the death of VH. Only 153 days left to "Trousers Day".

We think that Václav Havel is one of the most significant Czechs in our history. We perceive his legacy with the same importance as those of T.G. Masaryk and Charles IV. Václav Havel should not fall into the category of an ordinary statesman.

The image shows a screenshot of a web browser displaying the homepage of the International Internet Preservation Consortium (IIPC). The browser's address bar shows the URL <http://netpreserve.org/>. The website header features the IIPC logo on the left, which consists of a stylized green 'I' and 'P' followed by 'IPC' in red, and the text 'INTERNATIONAL INTERNET PRESERVATION CONSORTIUM' in green. To the right of the logo is a search bar with the text 'search site' and a green arrow. Further right are navigation links: 'My Account', 'Contact', 'Become a Member', 'Log Out', and 'Content'. Below the header is a horizontal navigation menu with the following items: 'HOME', 'ABOUT IIPC', 'WEB ARCHIVING', 'PROJECTS', 'MEMBER ARCHIVES', 'CALENDAR', 'FOR MEMBERS', and 'GENERAL ASSEMBLY' (which is highlighted in a teal box). The main content area is divided into two columns. The left column contains the text 'A GLOBAL NETWORK OF EXPERTS ARCHIVING THE WEB FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS.' in red, followed by a link 'Learn More About IIPC' in blue. Below this is a dark grey button with the word 'INTERNATIONAL' in white. To the right of the text is a large teal globe with a white network overlay. The right column contains three vertical panels, each with a dark grey button labeled 'I', 'P', and 'C' respectively. Below the main content area is a banner image showing a historical scene with a person and a large stone structure. To the right of the banner is a large green arrow pointing downwards and to the right, with the text 'WHY ARCHIVE THE WEB?' in blue below it.
